9. ANTISWAY PRO

Swaying past your rear foot on the backswing is a big loss of power. The AntiSway Pro from HoleOut fits under your rear heel to prevent your back knee from swaying front to back and laterally. This is a good training aid because of its structure and instant feedback on how to properly shift your body weight during the swing. Visit holeout.com

10. BUSHNELL TOUR X

If you have trouble locking in on a target with your rangefinder, this one vibrates when it does so. Hallelujah! It also comes with two faceplates: a black version that only measures actual yardages to conform with the Rules of Golf and the red version, which reads the actual yardage, slope percentage and calculated yardage. 11. GOLF BUDDY WT4

This new GPS device doubles as a lifestyle watch that includes exercise features such as a pedometer and mileage tracker. Golf elements include 30,000 courses, yardages to targets and hazards, pin placements, a digital scorecard and shot distance measurements. The battery lasts 14 hours in golf mode and 20 days as a watch. Visit golfbuddyglobal.com

12. DST COMPRESSOR

Lag and a forward shaft lean are good for power, and the DST Compressor wedge's curved shaft automatically puts your hands in the optimal impact position. Swinging the training wedge leads the clubface through the hitting zone to compress the ball, which equals a solid strike and more distance. DST also offers an 8-iron version. Visit dstgolf.com
